Watertown High School
Watertown, Wisconsin

'Tis education forms the common mind:
Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined.
Alexander Pope

The class of 1957 proudly dedicates their edition of the Orbit to the Honorable Joseph E. Davies, who has set a high personal standard of scholastic achievement and through granting of scholarships is making it possible for others to reach similar goals.

The Honorable JOSEPH E. DAVIES
LL. D
University of Wisconsin

"I find great satisfaction in the fact that members of the graduating class of my old high school are concerned with education as the basis for the great service to our country of protecting our spiritual and physical liberties from tyranny, which in the Providence of God, we all enjoy.

Congratulations to the class of 1957. It discloses 'High heart, high courage, midst honoring eyes.' Good Luck, "

Joseph E. Davies

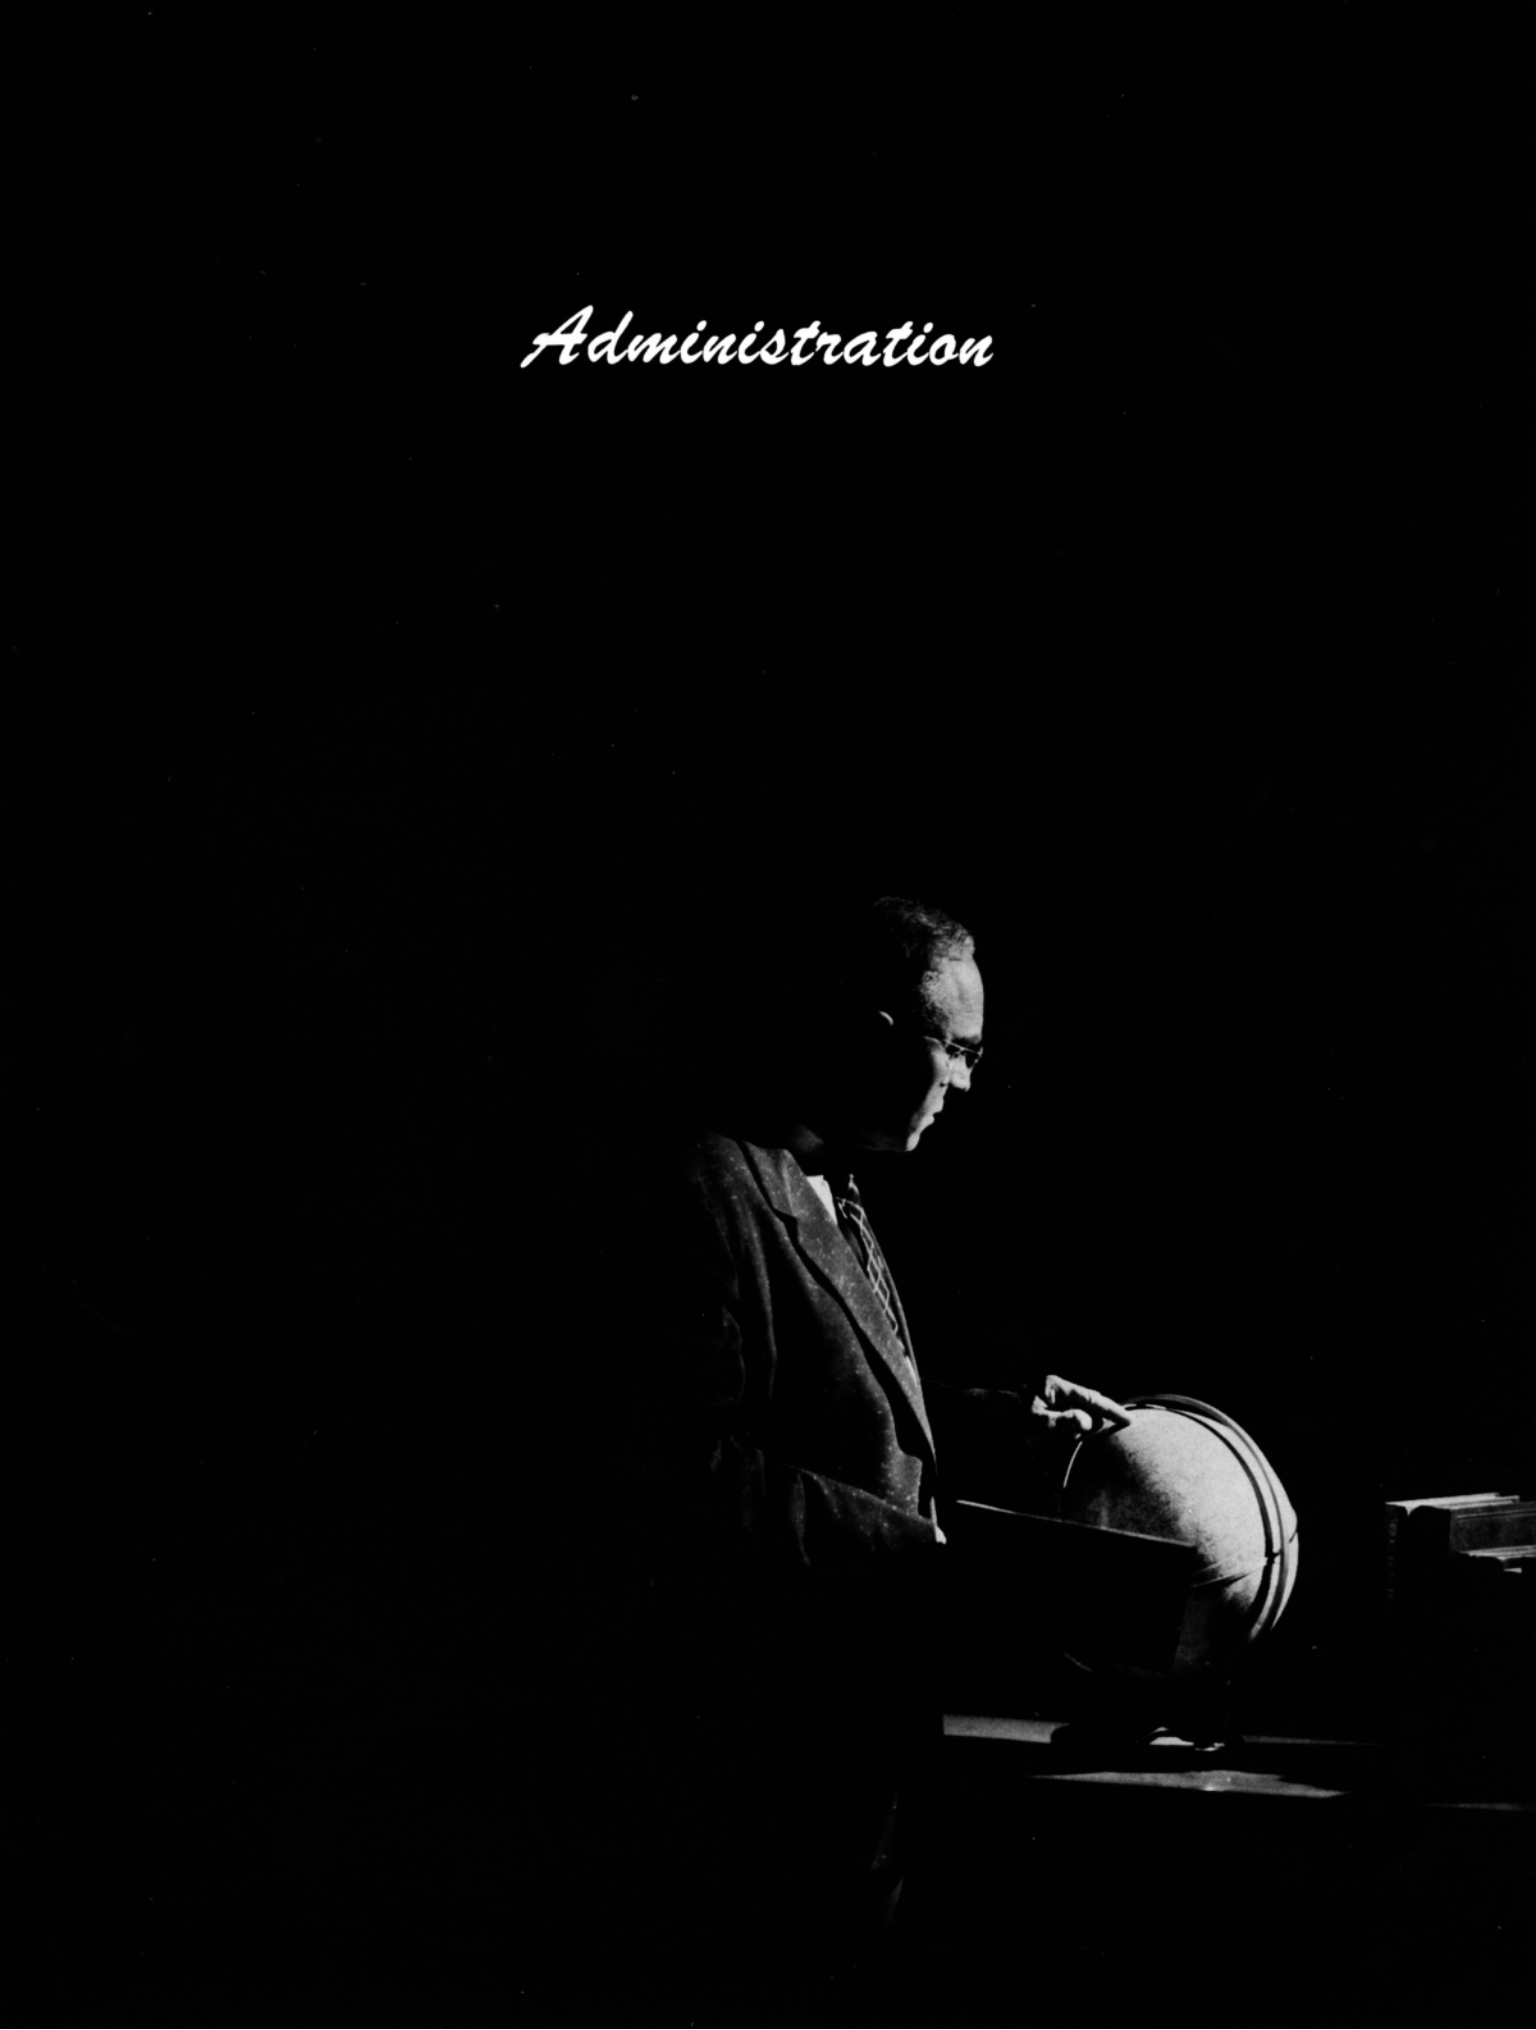

This is our campus.
In summer it is dead. From June to August it lives but for the promise of life that a fall semester brings.

Soon life returns for ten months.
During noon hour our campus thrives on the joys and sorrows of its students.

And somehow the time passes so swiftly.

Administration

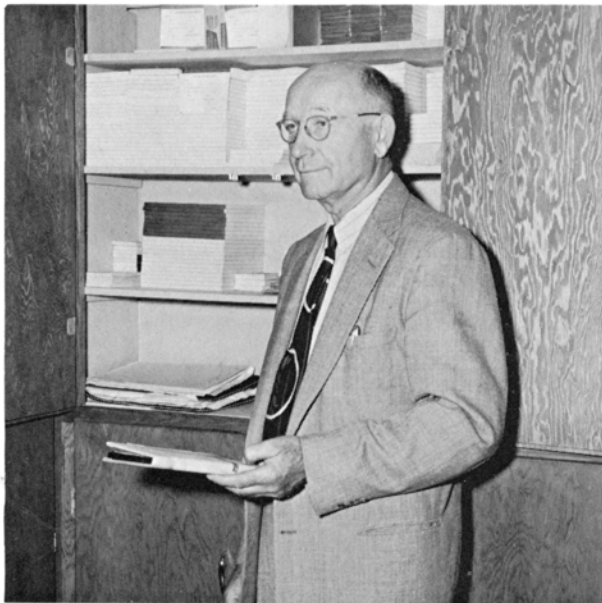

"As the soil, however rich it may be,
cannot be productive without culture, so the mind without cultivation can never produce good fruit."

In the fall of 1953 Watertown High School opened its doors to us. It was really fun getting to know all of our classmates who have lived in our town, but until now were total strangers. Many of these strangers became our best friends. The big thrill of our freshman year was the winning of first prize on our float for Homecoming.

Our Sophomore Dramatic Club spelled success when it presented Puss-in-Boots at the grade schools.

Sports played an important role for many of us in our junior year. When prom time came everyone was busy working on a southern plantation, the setting for our theme, "Deep Purple". Not any of us will ever be able to forget OUR PROM.

Looking back over our years at Watertown High School, we seniors feel that our last year has proved to be a practicing ground for our life after graduation. This being election year, we discussed, in American Problems classes, the difficulties that face our country. And in November we obtained practical experience by participating in a mock presidential election.

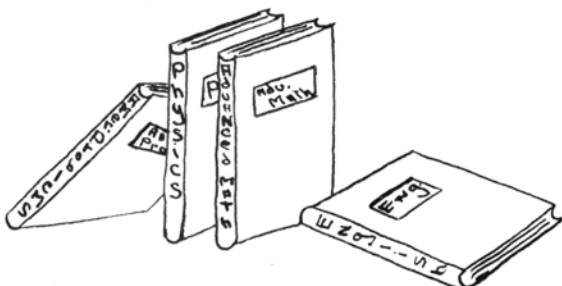

Four wonderful years passed too swiftly and we, the class of 1957, truly say "we will always be true to the memories of you, Watertown High."

Hi Kids,

Here it is the end of No. already. Our championship team has finished its season with a perfect record, the Braveland Conference title. Congratulations to these boys and student body!

Now that we are starting our basketball season, let's get behind the players, keep up the school spirit, and attend the pep meetings and the games. The cheerleaders are doing a lot of work and really put much effort into building up our school spirit, so let's help them to cheer our basketball team to as great a record as our football team achieved.

With the Sadie Hawkins dance already behind us, students can now

Under the enthusiastic guidance of Mr. Leys, the 1957 Watertown Senior High School Student Council took on new responsibilities. Council members volunteered to help with assembly programs and monitoring in the halls. The student council was in charge of Homecoming, Visitation Night, and Career Day.

They extended their interest and activity to state affairs by having local and county officials present their opinions on legislation of concern to youth.

CHRISTMAS IN OTHER LANDS

Christmas has given mankind more joy than any other day of the whole year. A long procession of people, associated with Christmas, marches through the pages of folklore and history.

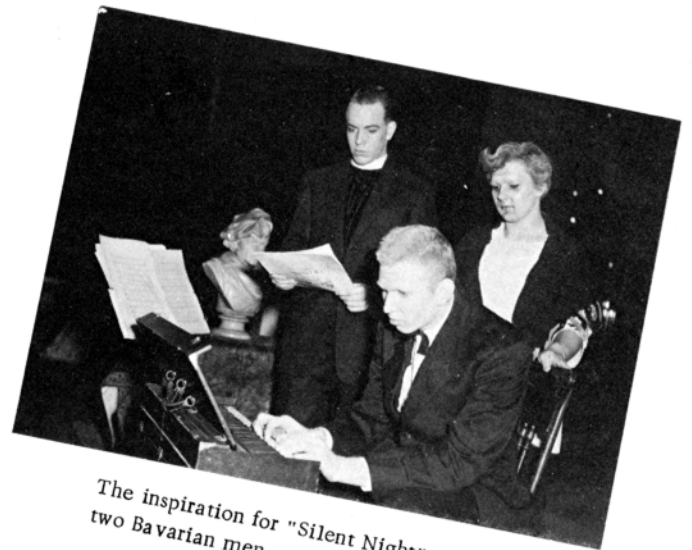

Customs of celebrating the birth of our Lord have come from countries throughout the world as Merry England, Germany, Mexico, Bavaria and finally the Holy Land which commemorates the birth of Him whose teachings we must follow.

The script for this year's production was prepared by Miss Fox and Miss Skinner. It was produced under the general direction of Miss Skinner.

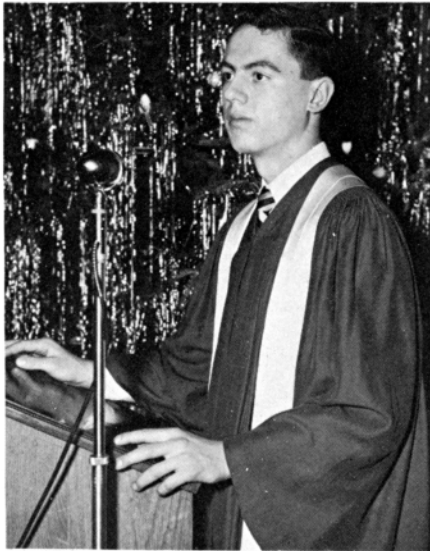

Pageant

originated during the England.

The inspiration for "Silent Night" came to two Bavarian men.

Narrator: Joe Checota.

The Shepherd Boy marvels at the beauty of the heavens.

The Finale of the Christmas Pageant is the Nativity Scene with the choruses and orchestra joining in the "Hallelujah Chorus."

School Memories

Sept. 6: Orientation. That time again!

Sept. 7: Opening day and away we go! Mr. Hinterberg welcomed all the students back to Watertown High for another year.

Sept. 10: The usual rush for activity cards took place. This little card means free admission to the games.

Oct. 1: When Larry P. handed Nina S. the money for her physics manual, Mr. Herreid remarked, "Is is starting already?"

Oct. 17: Geometry class surveyed the new school construction.

Oct. 18: A group of seniors was observed looking longingly at the old playground, wishing it could be transformed into that new gym before June 5, 1957.

Oct. 19: The Senior Marching Band was very privileged to participate in Marquette's homecoming parade. Seems the band made quite a hit with the Milwaukeeans with is fancy steps and sharp marching.

Oct. 25: Homecoming pep rally at Washington Park. Too much wind came up, so water had to be used to put the fire out. It didn't dampen that W.H.S. spirit though. What a night!!

Oct. 26: The big game with Menomonee Falls. W.H.S. victory.

Oct. 30: Today was the last day of marching practice and the seniors formed their own band. They showed the rest of the band what a real marching unit is.

Oct. 31: End of an unmarred football season; first in 21 years. Congratulations, fellows!

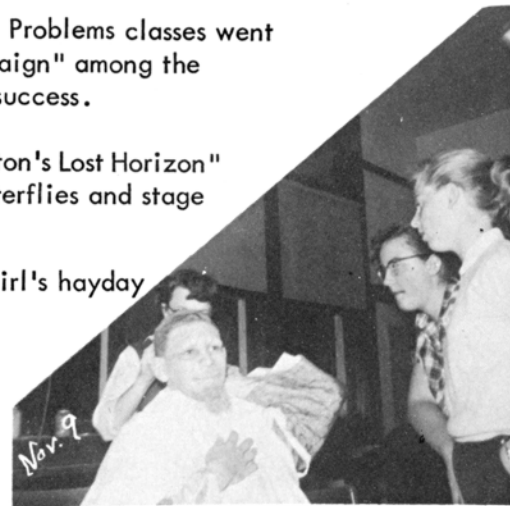

Nov. 1-2: Teachers Convention, therefore students delight.

Nov. 4: Mr. Stasek's American Problems classes went out for a "Get-Out the Vote Campaign" among the seniors and juniors. It was quite a success.

Nov. 9: Fall production of "Hilton's Lost Horizon" was a success despite the usual butterflies and stage fright.

Nov. 16: Sadie Hawkin's--the girl's hayday

Nov. 22-23: School closed for Thanksgiving.

Dec. 15: The Annual Christmas dance revealed this year's Christmas fashions.

Dec. 19: Phones started ringing today. The Girl's Club distributed Buzz Books and everyone found the phone number of Mr. (Miss) Special.

Dec. 21: Lots of smiles mean good times are ahead for Christmas vacation.

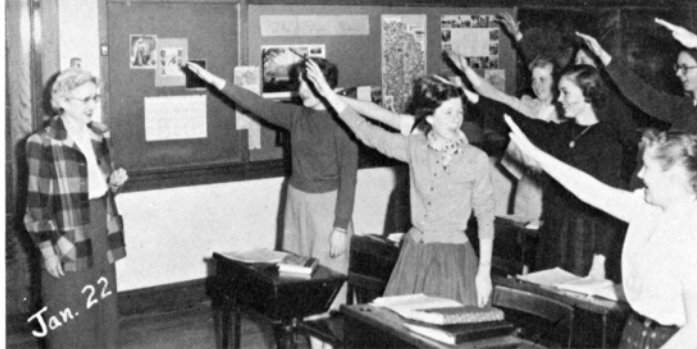

Jan. 7: All play and no work would make Jack a happy boy, but all good times must come to an end. In other words--school opens!

Jan. 22-23: Grim looks, lots of books, and quiet nooks all mean one thing--semester exams. "We who are about to die, salute you!" Compliments of the first year Latin Class.

Jan. 23: At the Father-Son banquet, the F.F.A. honored Mr. Shultis who was leaving for a new position.

Jan. 25: With all the extra work going into the Orbit, every day is needed. Work goes on even on vacation days.

Jan. 25: Extra! Read all about it! Joe Clifford plays the hero and saves the heroine Susie Kressin from the hands of the villain.

Jan. 26: Sandy N. and Diane H. with lots of helpers at the YAC and radio station, pushed the Teens Against Polio fund up to $602, a new record.

Jan. 29: After twelve straight wins the W.H.S. basketball team dropped their first game at Fort Atkinson. It was a tough game to lose.

Feb. 5: W.H.S. welcomed its two newest students, just arrived from Germany. Hello, Brigitte and Otto Felske.

Feb. 7: The 2nd semester saw three new teachers at W.H.S: Kenneth Johnson, Joyce Walther, Ronald Larson.

Feb. 11: The Senior Band and Chorus presented an assembly program to the senior high with guest conductor, Mr. Grabow.

Feb. 15: Teachers Convention at Madison. All of the teachers came back supplied with plenty of jokes.

Feb. 18: Rehearsing of the senior class play "You Can't Take It With You" is well under way. However, from the picture it doesn't seem as if everyone is concentrating on his lines.

Feb. 19: The Girls Club put on a special pep meeting. "This Is Your Life" with Mr. Grabow as guest of honor. "Coach" was presented with a new red (good luck) tie.

Feb. 20: W.H.S. Senior Band gave a concert at Cooney.

Feb. 22: Coach Grabow wore his new tie but we lost to Meno Falls by two points. Social after the game.

Feb. 25: Sophomores presented their workshop play "The Dear Departed".

Feb. 26: With a look at the 1939 state basketball championship trophy, W.H.S. spirit is soaring high.

Feb. 27: We won our first tournament game against Meno Falls 60-59.

Feb. 28: Repeated last night's performance with an 85-76 point victory over West Bend.

Mar. 2: We lost the all important game with Waukesha, but neither our team nor students forgot the W.H.S. motto! "Stand Tall!"

Mar. 4: Local forensic students battled for a berth in the Braveland Conference tournament today.

Mar. 5: The Prom steering committee met to make plans for the big event, "The Junior Prom".

Mar. 7: A fine concert was presented in the high school auditorium by the Eau Claire College Band and Chours.

Mar. 11: The new building is slowly beginning to appear.

Mar. 13: Track practice! Aches and pains are gradually being worked out.

Mar. 16: Braveland Conference Forensic Contest was held today.

Mar. 22: Elks' Constitution Test was given today. W.H.S. was well represented by: Jean Hartmann, Marie Gmeinder, Sandy Nolte, Larry Rehbaum, and Bill Potter.

Mar. 25: Cooney played their exchange concert at W.H.S.

Mar. 28: Who's Who! Your guess is as good as ours. These are the W.H.S. twins.

Apr. 3: Practice for the solo and ensemble contest at Hartford goes on no matter what. The Broom closet, room six, and the icebox sure are busy these days.

Apr. 5: The Senior Class play was given to the student body. The play proved to be real comedy.

Apr. 6: Solo and ensemble contest took place at Hartford today with W.H.S. well represented.

Apr. 9: The annual Girls Club Style Show was given to a very appreciative audience. Some of the latest styles and fads in clothes were shown.

Apr. 18-23: Easter vacation--and a couple of days of rest for everyone.

Apr. 24: If you thought the school was falling in--you're mistaken, it was only the annual Eighth Grade Day.

Apr. 26: The Campus Band played for the Rice Lake prom.

May 4: The band, orchestra, and chorus went into competition with other schools of this district at Hartford. W.H.S. can really be proud of these organizations.

May 6: The orchestra celebrated National Music Week by playing a concert at Neenah, Wisconsin.

May 10: The Junior Prom was set to the music "Meet Me Tonight In Dreamland." A memorable night!

May 11: There were a lot of tired people today!

May 29: Award Day! Hopes rose as the speakers talked, and tears were shed as the alma mater was played.

May 31: Class Day! What a riot--who will ever forget the reading of the will and the class prophecy!

June 3: Books flew as lockers were being cleaned out the last day.

June 3: Looks like a couple of the kids are getting ahead of the rest of the seniors in eating. The Senior Class Picnic--and away we go.

Literary Winners

OUR SCHOOL

In recognition of the Orbit theme, Education, OUR SCHOOL was chosen as the subject for the Literature Contest. This topic allowed for varied points of view ranging from the idealistic to the realistic. The following are the five winning essays.

First Place

Deep within beats a heart and somewhere lies a brain, for how else might a school take on a personality? Perhaps if it had a voice it would tell you that each person who courses through the halls leaves behind something of himself. The something might be a perfect football season or of the starring role in a dramatic production. All joys and sorrows are registered in the great memory bank it possesses. It has keen insight which often helps someone to forget his grief by providing joy and companionship when most needed. A school is one of the great talkers of our age, although it doesn't speak our language. Often it will reverberate with the sound of happy cheering, the angry slam of a locker, or the clamor of the dismissal bell. Then there is the cacophony of the band warming up and the harshness of some chiding teacher. These are the multitudinous sounds that can be found only in a school.

Poet, scientist, reader, psychologist, and friend--this then is a school.

Paul Dauer

Second Place

"--We'll always be true to the memory of you---" Familiar words, aren't they? Of course, they're part of our Alma Mater.

The day will come when you'll be going back with your children over your old high school days and your Alma Mater. But just what will it be that you will remember most? Possibly that day two years ago when W.H.S. won the State Baseball Tournament; or the day they began ripping down the north side of the building in order to make room for a new addition to the school; or the prom your class put on which, of course, was better than all the rest put together. Maybe it won't be a particular day you'll remember, but a teacher or a class. For instance the history teacher who always gave you detentions for talking; or that English teacher who gave the terrific tests; or the coach who really put you through the paces, always with great results. Maybe it will be the play you tried out for and on opening night you were so scared you forgot your lines; or that embarrassing moment when you dropped all your books in the main hall and two of your comic books fell out and there stood the principal. Maybe you'll recall the tricks and schemes you used to get away with--or at least thought you had. But whatever it is you remember most and think back on, it will be with some regret and a lot of pride; and maybe not outwardly, but in your thoughts, you'll give that special "---toast to the Blue and White---"

Kathleen Foley

Third Place

"Stand Tall". How many times we have glanced at this simple, direct message. Its bold letters have been there to guide us, from our first orientation to the day when we, as seniors, cross the stage for the last time to receive our diplomas.

In the intervening years these words watched our growth as we viewed games and assemblies, and as we participated in gym classes, music events, and our very own prom. Silently it witnessed the learning, the ambitions, the victories and defeats, the joys and sorrows which each one of us experienced.

These words watch anxiously as we prepare to leave W.H.S. for the last time. "Did we reach them," they inquire, "or did our message go unheeded?"

The answer to this question lies within each of us as individuals. How will you choose to represent your school in the years ahead? Will you "Stand Tall"?

Mary Lou Marr

My last year in high school--years from now I will look back, my mind crowded with memories. As I dust off the cobwebs, I will be certain to hear:
 The slam that only a locker at W.H.S. can make,
 The chatter of the girls as they wield their lipstick tubes,
 The shrill of the bell as it shocks the students back to reality,
 The groan which follows the announcement of a long assignment,
 The mutter of a student as he bends over a hard problem,
 The laughter that follows an unexpected joke,
 The clatter of trays in the school cafeteria,
 The clunk of the bottle spewed out by the coke machine,
 The rumble of noise in the gym at noon,
 The stamp of the last pair of feet running to class,
 The stillness during a difficult test,
 The creak of the desk that needs oiling,
 The crescendo of students pouring out of classrooms,
 The shout of a cheer for the team,
 The lilt of the school song.

Barb Meyer

I am Watertown High School, rather plain and ordinary looking to most people. I am short and stout and wear a plain red suit with gray trimming. But to my students, I am something special or at least I hope I am. For you see, without them I am a big empty box containing nothing except a faculty and a lot of potential. For students are my eyes, my ears, my mouth and my heart; literally they give me life. Without me, a void is developed in the lives of students, that can never be replaced.

I am an industry. Through the years I have turned out many finished products. This has been done by a capable staff of producers, the teachers. My machines are books and their accumulated wealth of knowledge. My polishers are really students themselves. For in their years of school life, they constantly bump and grind against each other until all the ragged edges should be worn off. It is no wonder that with all this excellent equipment, I produce some very fine products.

But I am more than an industry; I am also a home. I am a home that provides guidance for my children and helps them to build a strong foundation for a successful adult life.
