Basketball Tournament

IT HAPPENED THIS WAY IN 1957-1958

Sept. 6: School Opens

First day of school for all the freshmen, so green,
The sophs are returning with spirits so keen.
For the next year, the Juniors all anxiously wait,
But it's the last of the first days for the class '58.

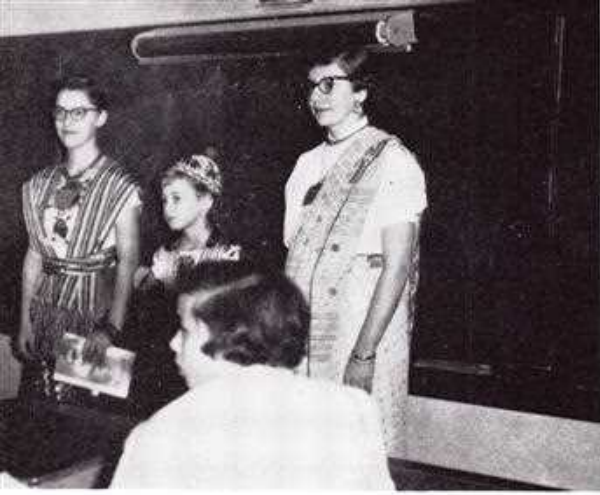

Sept. 30: What's in the garbage can?
John W. never looked funnier than
The day he got stuck in the garbage can,
And through his great struggle he finally did win,
I find myself wondering just how he got in.

Oct. 7: Braves, World Champs!
Hear the Braves' rooters' echoed all through these walls,
As the unhappy Yankee fan roams through the halls.
Though his money's all lost in the old baseball pool,
He has one consolation--he got out of school!

Oct. 11: Sock Hop at Turner Hall.
The dance of the year, all agreed it was neat,
As we rocked and we rolled without shoes
on our feet.
Many, after that night, so the story is told,
Instead of their shoes, had their feet all re-soled.

Oct. 21: UNICEF girls at Grade Schools:
 Today, Liz and Betty at grade schools arrive
 To promote the kids "trick and treat" UNICEF drive

Success was achieved as the tots and these girls,
 Helped UNICEF make this a much better world.

Oct. 28: Senator Wiley Speaks:
 Among all of our honors, today's was a jewel,
 As Senator Wiley addressed us in school.
 There's a personal touch as a Junior lass,
 Introduced Mr. Wiley to history class.

Nov. 2: Homecoming Dance:
 The bonfires died out now, again the team wins,
 And finally this evening the dancing begins.
 The couples are led, as the dancing goes on,
 By Mary, their queen, and her escort, King Don.

Nov. 4: Liberal Education in Problems Class:
 Mr. Chandler believes that it's part of his station
 To offer a liberal education,
 For he thinks that it's wrong for the women to roam,
 Old fashioned men make their wives stay at home.

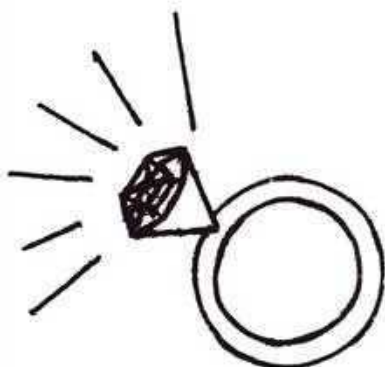

Nov. 22: Sadie Hawkins Day:
 Boys were hiding today as each girl on the loose
 Caught some innocent fellow and lowered her noose.
 But the guys who were captured will now all agree,
 It's not quite as bad as they thought it would be!

Dec. 12: Menomonee Falls Assembly:
Since their team wasn't with them, we must confess,
We were glad to see Indians at W.H.S.,
As Menomonee presented their music review,
To the students delight - and the faculty too!

Jan. 7: Wrestling, A Newcomer, Begins:
Don't be surprised if you hear grunts and groans,
Followed, soon after, by pitiful moans.
As the squad gets in shape for their grapples and tussles,
The noise is just due to the rust in their muscles!

Feb. 6: Miss Griffith and the Monkey:
When an ape, with Miss Griffith decided to play--
Well, accidents happen, and one did today!
And that is why schools, in their flighty dizziness,
Refuse to allow any monkey business.

Feb. 14: Carla's Best Valentine Day:
For Valentine's day, many girls, it is true,
Received gifts which were big and expensive and new.
And although Carla's Valentine was pretty small,
In reality, hers was the best one of all.

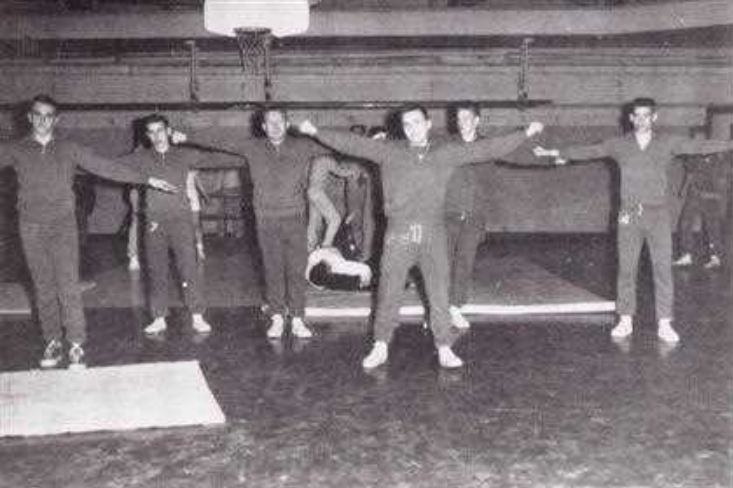

Feb. 19: Miss Port's Proposal:
The members of Watertown's F.T.A.
Were practicing teaching in grade schools today.
One teacher, Miss Port, is now set up for life,
As one little boy wanted her for his wife.

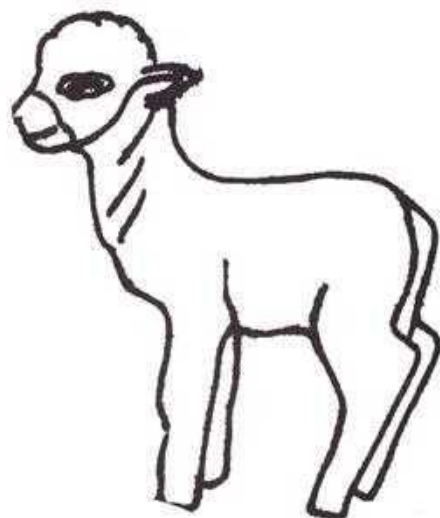

Feb. 25: DAR Award to Liz Derleth:
Miss Derleth is a girl who has really gone far,
Now she gets an award from the DAR.
She's proved by this prize that she's really a whiz .
Watertown's proud of a winner like Liz.

Feb. 26: Boys Shine in Forensics:
At Forensics and speeches, the boys used to scoff,
Now fellows take over where girls have left off.
In forensics, it's quite an advantage to be males,
Just look at the boys who have nudged out the females.

Mar. 1: Track Warm-Ups:
 Football to basketball, now on to track.
 The Goslings, a winner are sure to bring back.
 They're practicing now, through the school you can hear it,
 With Schmitty to yell, they're not lacking
 for spirit!

Mar. 3: Senior Class Play Progresses:
 Rehearsals are hard and the schedule is tough,
 Ambition is lost when the going gets rough,
 The hours spent in practice are long,
 But when kissing gets sloppy, then something is wrong!!

Mar. 6: Assembly Failure:
 "In assembly," she thought, "they won't notice I'm gone."
 Was Judy surprised when it wasn't put on!
 The "little lost sheep" serves detentions each day.
 See, Hoffs, we told you that crime doesn't pay.

Mar. 10: Mr. Stark's Measles:
 Today's smiles were worn by each lad and each lass,
 As the measles kept dear Mr. Stark out of class.
 With term papers tying their brains into knots,
 My, how the juniors did bless those red spots.

Mar. 11: One Act Plays Prepared:
 For dramatic club members, now these are the days,
 On which they make ready their three one-
 act plays.
 Though the schedule is rough, when the work
 is all through,
 It spells fun for the actors and audience too.

Mar. 12: Lowell Wins Speech Contest:
 There's one more achievement to add to the roll
 Of honors piled up by Watertown's Lowell,
 As he made his speech for the FF of A,
 And carried the highest of prizes away.

March 15: Forensic Winners:
 The Goslings did shine in forensics today.
 As nine of our entries each captured an "A."
 Good luck to them all, as we know they will try.
 To bring home a winner to Watertown High.

March 17: Prom Royalty Revealed:
 Bet Tom never knew he was such a great lover.
 Well this is the day that he finally discovered
 So many admirers, he never has seen.
 Oh well, girls, it would have been nice to be queen.

April 1: Red Cross Gives Gifts to Veterans:
 The Junior Red Cross, their objectives to meet,
 Prepared for the veterans a fine Easter treat.
 This shows all the work which was done by a few,
 They deserve our support and acknowledgment too.

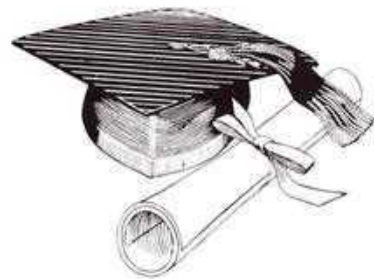

April 6: Seniors Return from Tour:
 Though the seniors were chipper when they rode away.
 Soon they're showing the sleep that they've missed on the way.
 By the time they returned, they were
 grumpy and lazy,
 And Miss Shunk, after bed checks, was practically crazy.

May 7: Concert Soloists Practice:
 Note to all soloists: Dear friends of mine,
 For concerts, your music is perfectly fine.
 But practice at home, if you'll please be so kind,
 Your tune-ups are driving me out of my mind!

May 21: Senior Tea:
 For the senior tea, what most all girls want
 Is a dress of chiffon or of silk and bouffant.
 So the girls all dress up like a party of queens,
 But one doesn't come, 'cause she cannot wear jeans.

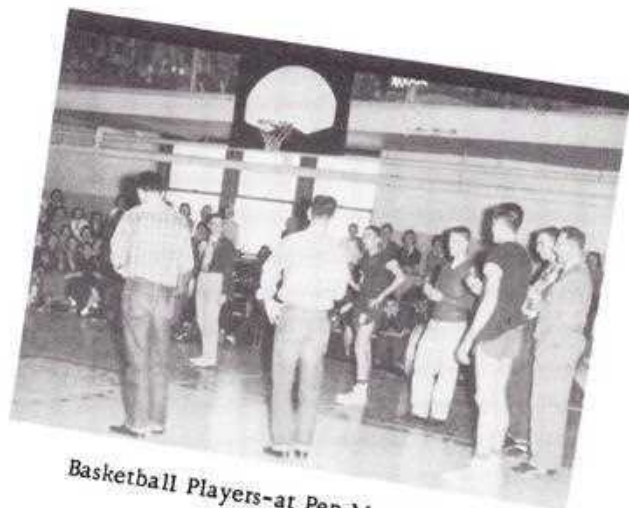

June 4: Graduation:
 It seemed this time would never come,
 But the day is here at last,
 When we must face the future,
 With fond memories of the past.

Opportunities for Growing Up

First Place

Tremendous doors are opened to the young American the moment he is born. His first privilege is being born in this land of freedom. His opportunity for growth is unlimited. He is not bounded by economic, social, or political walls. He can grow to his own moral and intellectual height.

His first real opportunity is school. While he has no choice concerning his school attendance, the success which he attains is his responsibility. Along with the opportunity of school, we are blessed with public libraries and museums, educational radio and television programs, and many different clubs to further our education.

After high school, we are free to make our own decisions about what to do with our lives. We may choose to attend schools of higher learning or to step right into the working world. Nobody dictates to us in this step: the choice is ours.

After we have chosen our work, we are free to advance according to our own ability and effort. We are also free to marry whom we choose and to set up our own homes. We have grown up.

In America we may also go to the church of our choice and believe what we think is right. Our minds are not limited in any way. We may grow morally as we choose.

Throughout our youth and our life, we have great opportunities for leisure and relaxation. We may read, travel, participate in sports, act, and play musical instruments. We have opportunities unlimited.

These numerous opportunities can all be included under one--our opportunity to grow freely and fulfill our own potential.

Karen Schuenke

Second Place

Youth holds the key that unlocks the doors to the unlimited opportunities of the world. Each opportunity is a door which springs open at only the slightest suggestion of a touch by that key. As youth steps through each of these doors, new faces, situations, scenes, and conditions are there to meet him. These elements, together, work for the growth of the individual; they only await discovery.

As the portal of science is investigated by youth, he finds a future filled with many advantages. Considering the status of the world, at present, --a cold war between communist Russia and democratic America over defense measures, youth is not only assured of jobs, but good ones with high salaries. Highly rated scholarships are offered to any young person with an aptitude for science.

Unlocked, the door of mathematics offers golden opportunities. A vast number of scholarships are offered to capable youths who indicate a real desire for a mathematical career. Jobs are varied and are offered to trained youth. In the many fields of math, each youth may find his own outlet in which he can rise to wealth and prominence.

Challenging, as well as beneficial, are the opportunities offered by the opened thresholds of professional fields. Youth finds here a varied selection, each out-doing the other in the advantages it offers. Here youths individuality is announced. Each field is capable of satisfying one or more specific needs of youth. Opportunities awarded by professional fields include not only success, assurance of a job, wealth, prominence, and a good social position, but personal satisfaction as well."

Susan Mears

Third Place

Writing this essay is an opportunity for growing up. Youths of some other countries are not allowed to express an opinion of any kind, while we are given the chance to praise or criticize our way of life. We can form our opinions by listening to and reading about what others say. Our free public libraries welcome all people and give them the chance to seek truths and open their way to opportunity unlimited.

The American teen-ager has a privilege in that he can get a job when he is sixteen years old. He can choose what he wants to do and earn money to help him later on. Upon getting this job, he is given the chance to mature by seeing how others work and how they enjoy what they're doing. Many times, this small, seemingly insignificant job makes the youth decide to try to become better educated. He realizes that if he is trained for some specific vocation, he stands a better chance at being happy all through his adult life.

School competition in athletics, forensics, dramatics, music, and scholastic competence all help to mature youths today. Winning is very essential in this growing up process. Success makes a timid person more self-confident. The aspirant in any field must also learn to accept defeat and gain by his mistakes.

Opportunities for growing up are limitless. Each day is a new chance to become more mature, more understanding, and more tolerant.

Fourth Place

Living in an age of guided missiles and earth satellites, the youth of the present century have been enveloped in the most complex, yet automated environment ever known. About to be placed into the hands of the next ruling generation are prodigious forces of potential destruction or construction and with them the responsibility of deciding how they will be used. Youth has found itself in an extremely advanced society in which any determined individual can stand out if that individual can successfully compete or comply with the ever-rising standards. The opportunities of the 'push button age' are infinite and open to anyone seeking them. Our forefathers and even our fathers have built on a firm foundation of basic truths a life for us completely incomparable to that of any other era.

Our United States is growing and changing at a very remarkable rate. Each change brings about new opportunities for the youth of this generation. Today the products pouring from American factories are of much high quality and are still under constant improvement. Americans enjoy one of the highest standards of living in the world because of these continual endeavors. American youth are well-informed about world affairs because of the various newspapers, magazines, television, and radios. Fantastic strides in electronics, atomic energy, space travel, etc. are opening thousands of new fields to youth. Scholarships from innumerable sources are available to anyone unable to obtain a higher education for himself. Contrary to the beliefs of many, membership in religious congregations has increased twice as fast as population--a fact which illustrates that the opportunity to lead a richer, fuller life is becoming more and more realistic. As tomorrow dawns, we should find adults, because of the goodness of God and the wonderful opportunities of our country, who are able to cope with problems of the Atomic Age.

Karla Johnson

Fifth Place

Growing up in America is the greatest privilege any person could ever have. We, the young people of today, should be ever thankful for this great opportunity of living in a country where freedom is so common that we sometimes take it for granted.

We have no social class distinction that keeps us from associating with the boy or girl around the corner. We attend school and church in freedom never fearing for our lives because of our actions.

We do not deem it necessary to talk in secret about the political outlook or to keep inside of us all of our grievances. We are blessed with the opportunity to speak and to express our own ideas as long as they do not harm others.

Upon reaching high school age, we have the opportunity to select our courses, beyond the requirements, which will prepare us for our chosen vocation.

Upon completion of our high school training, the opportunity of a college education comes our way. We then are free to go on with our formal education or to enter a field of work. This decision is ours to make. There is no one telling us we have to be this or we have to do that.

Our entire existence is a result of freedom of opportunity. The opportunities in this nation of ours are endless. Any person, if he has the will to work and get ahead, can do so.

We who realize our great opportunities should be humble and thankful to the Lord who has allowed situations to be as they are. Without Him to guide the leaders of our country, we would not be living in a nation like ours. The opportunities will do only so much for us. It then is up to us to make the best use of these opportunities in growing up so that we may provide the future generations with equal opportunities.
